

Feed your mind!

What do you think about:

Black men, love and growing older?

Escaping the street life?

The misinformation taught you in school?

Come hear some of Washington's best writers discuss their ideas in a free lecture and discussion. Participants also receive a free autographed copy of each book.

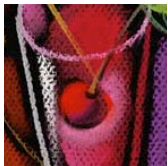

What's on the menu?

Wednesday July 22, 2009

E. Ethelbert Miller discussing The Fifth Inning

at Busboys and Poets, 2021-14th Street NW, WDC 20009

Wednesday, July 29, 2009

Dawayne Williams discussing Reputations Fade Away

at Honfleur Gallery, 1241 Good Hope Rd. SE, WDC 20020

Wednesday, August 12, 2009

James W. Loewen discussing Lies My Teacher Told Me:

Everything Your High School History Textbook Got Wrong

at Busboys & Poets, 2021 -14th Street NW, WDC 20009

All lectures take place from 10:00 a.m. - 12:00 noon.

Reservations required. RSVP to Stacey Downey at 202-741-5530 or stacey.downey@dc.gov.

Sponsored by: The DC Department of Human Services - Income Maintenance Administration; DC Office of the State Superintendent of Education (OSSE) - Division of Education Excellence, Adult and Family Education; Teaching For Change; and The Spoken Word.